Who We Are:

Credit Abuse Resistance Education (CARE) is a national presence in financial literacy education presenting to local classrooms and other venues using local professional volunteers who understand the characteristics and challenges of their local communities and can best relate to the students.

CARE is the only organization working with professionals in the bankruptcy system and financial industry who see firsthand the consequences of severe financial problems. Our volunteers include bankruptcy judges and trustees, insolvency lawyers, financial advisors and other members of the financial services industry who give presentations and share real-world examples in schools across the country.

From New York to California, CARE volunteers teach students how to avoid being a victim of easy and deceptive credit traps, as well as how to manage their finances responsibly.

CARE Curriculum:

CARE volunteers use educational materials developed by experts in personal finance. The materials comply with the National Standards in K-12 Personal Finance Education adopted by the Jumpstart Coalition for Personal Financial Literacy. The presentations are approximately 45 minutes in length and include Extension Activities for students and teachers.

CARE's curriculum covers three core personal financial management topics and are available in both English and Spanish.

Topics include:

- Brush Up on Budgeting
- The Truth About Credit
- Student Loans: Handle with CARE

Mission

CARE's mission is to prepare the next generation for financial success through volunteer led education.

Vision

CARE's vision is that young adults will achieve a financially secure future.

Values

Empowerment: We believe that knowledge is power. The best way to prepare the next generation for financial success is through education. We strive to empower youth by sharing the knowledge and life experiences of our volunteers.

Inclusion: We embrace individuals and communities with economic and socially diverse backgrounds, cultures, and perspectives.

Collaboration: We cannot achieve our goals alone. We are stronger working in partnership with students, educators, and volunteers to fulfill our mission.
